PACIFIC GROVE, CA

CARNEGIE SCHOOL OF ORGANIZATIONAL LEARNING

2022 Scholar's Quest Lecture In Honor of James G. March

Sarah Kaplan

Director, Institute for Gender and the Economy
Distinguished Professor of Gender & the Economy
Professor of Strategic Management at Rotman

Sarah Kaplan is a co-author of the bestselling business book, Creative Destruction as well as Survive and Thrive: Winning Against Strategic Threats to Your Business. Her latest book, The 360° Corporation: From Stakeholder Trade-offs to Transformation was published in September 2019. Her research has covered how organizations participate in and respond to the emergence of new fields and technologies in biotechnology, fiber optics, financial services, nanotechnology and most recently, the field emerging at the nexus of gender and finance. Her current work focuses on applying an innovation lens to understanding the challenges for achieving gender equality.

Formerly a professor at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania (where she remains a Senior Fellow), and a consultant and innovation specialist for nearly a decade at McKinsey & Company in New York, she completed her doctoral research at the Sloan School of Management at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). She has a BA with honors in Political Science from UCLA and an MA in International Relations and International Economics with distinction from the School for Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University.

She recently authored "Gender Equality as an Innovation Challenge" (2017) in the Rotman Management Magazine, "The Risky Rhetoric of Female Risk Aversion" (2016) in the Stanford Social Innovation Review, "Meritocracy: From Myth to Reality" in the Rotman Management Magazine (2015), and "The Rise of Gender Capitalism," in the Stanford Social Innovation Review (2014).
